Travels behind a lens

Phil Abraham, a Dorset based photographer, is in that lucky place, actually a VERY lucky place, where much of his time is his own.

Photography started for him last century with landscapes, taken while hill walking, and grew to become a multi genre passion.

The last eleven years have seen travels to the ends of the earth, and a few points in between. He will present an evening of images and conversation looking at the pleasure, and some of the trials, of 'travels behind a lens'
